

KEY-WORDS:
GOVERNANCE · BUSINESS RISK ·
CLIMATE CHANGE

PROFILE

I am a PhD student and researcher with a background in economics. My main interests include accounting and governance' best practices for enterprise risk management.

AFFILIATION

Faculty of Economics and Law
Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore,
Piacenza

LANGUAGES

Mother tongue

Level B2

HOW TO REACH ME

Email Address:

marina.carabelli@unicatt.it

You can also contact me on:

LinkedIn

Reference Contact

Prof.ssa Carlotta D'Este
carlotta.deste@unicatt.it

PROJECT TITLE

Climate change, business risk and disclosure in the agri-food sector

Steps of the research

- Systematic literature review to gather information on methods for identifying business risk in relation to the effects of climate change.
- Identification of the main governance factors for risk management.
- Case study selection and analysis.
- On-line agri-food firm survey.
- Identification of opportunities and challenges for risk governance in the agri-food sector.

Main Results

Study of risks and governance practices in the agri-food sector. Identification of best practices corporate governance to managing risks in the agri-food sector.

Research Contribution

The research aims to contribute to the development of new governance practices for the identification and prevention of the effects of climate change in the agri-food sector, with the objective of transforming the challenges posed by climate change into new opportunities.

Collaborations

Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore di Piacenza.

Why should you care?

Managing the climate change' risks in the agri- food sector is a highly topical issue.

Changes in the climatic-environmental scenario pose new challenges for companies. The adoption of good governance practices aimed at preventing and managing climate risks is crucial to turn them into new opportunities.